The role of the HR Professional is becoming more important every day. Your decisions affect the financial and physical wellbeing of your employees and your organization.

As the world of Employee Benefits gets more complex, so must HR Professionals be more creative. However, thinking outside the box without up-to-the-minute information is fruitless.

Please join the Willis Human Capital Practice and our co-sponsors, CIGNA, MetLife, The Standard and AllState for a day of sharing knowledge, trends and best practices in Employee Benefits to help you build and manage the most effective programs for our organizations.
